

INTERIOR DESIGN YEARBOOK 2020

WRITERS INCLUDE:

LAURA HAMMETT

KELLY HOPPEN

NATALIA MIYAR

EDITED BY JADE TILLEY

£8.95 CONSUMER EDITION

Published in association with the British Institute of Interior Design

VICTORIAN ELEGANCE

This 5,000 sq. ft. stucco-fronted Victorian property in St John's Wood has been completely refurbished by Roselind Wilson Design to allow for an elegant yet functional home with generous entertaining spaces, stylish guest accommodation and excellent storage. Several layouts were designed that considered the client's brief for a comfortable home with a stunning impact suitable for both grand and intimate entertaining. As the previous renovation was carried out more than a decade before, careful consideration was given to the products specified for quality, durability and overall aesthetics. Wallpapers and grass cloths add layering and texture while bronze and antique brass metals used as inlays to bespoke furniture add a sense of warmth against the neutral colour palette. Fabrics chosen favour texture over pattern to add a sophisticated, yet homely feel, and varying layers of light have been used to enhance the overall design scheme.

Carlton Hill is a residential project in St John's Wood, London, designed by Roselind Wilson Design and completed in August 2018. Photography by Mel Yates.

